"Be the change that you wish to see in the world" - this is a quotation of Mahatma Gandhi. This quotation expresses the life motivation and the life purpose. It is motivating people to be important in this life, to become the better version of themselves every day and to improve their skills. This quotation is the best quotation in my life and I think that everyone should support it.

First of all, my opinion is that if you does not support this quotation, you can not be the person who improves himself and his skills. And if you support it, you get respect from other people.

For example, my friend wanted to be a pilot, but he only played computer games, instead of studying. And when he had an exams, he hoped to cheat, but his plan was interrupted by the exam comission, that realised that he was cheating. He was very sad, but I said him: "Be the change that you wish to see in the world"

To sum up, this quotation is really great, so as was the Mahatma Gandhi. He taught people how to be unharmed to others. A hole generation grew up remembering his quotations and his advices. He was a very great person.
